Mr. Bolger holds a Bachelor's degree in Environmental/Urban Planning and Management from the University of California Davis and has over 35 years of experience demonstrating extensive knowledge of program, project, and construction management service delivery. In his most recent position as Senior Vice President for Cumming Corporation, Mr. Bolger is a member of Cumming's executive leadership team and serves as the Director of Program and Project Management services for Healthcare and Civic Buildings. In this capacity, Mr. Bolger is responsible for planning, organizing, and directing the delivery of the corporation's professional services.
